Beatles Tribute Group Appears At Bucks County Playhouse In New Hope April 27

Audiences will have a chance to revisit the Beatles like they never have before, when “Beatles for Sale: Lennon and McCartney Revisited” rolls into the Bucks County Playhouse for a special one-night concert, Friday, April 27 at 8 p.m.

The concert focuses on the Fab Four’s B-side hits, and is being presented in New Hope as part of the Bucks County Playhouse Visiting Artist Series.

“Beatles for Sale” takes a magical mystery tour back to the 1960s to explore the high-energy, youthful vitality of the Beatles, say producers. The members of the group are Joshua Jones as Paul, Robbie Berg as George, Richard Lewis as Ringo and Tyson Kelly as John. With these four talented young performers, whose look and sound instantly channel the boys from Liverpool, the concert includes famous B-sides like “Anna,” “This Boy,” “Another Girl,” “You Won’t See Me,” “In My Life,” “Paperback Writer,” and “We Can Work It Out.”

The concert also spotlights classics such as “Twist and Shout,” “Lucy In The Sky with Diamonds,” “I Want to Hold Your Hand,” and a spectacular medley from “Abby Road.” Not your average Beatles tribute show, “Beatles for Sale” is the real thing — a high-energy, reincarnated performance of what the Beatles performed live, according to their press material.

Tickets to “Beatles for Sale” are $35 and $55, and are available at the Bucks County Playhouse Box Office, the New Hope Visitors Center, or online.
