(Philadelphia, PA) May 26, 2016 -- GAPT V selects the music of The Jost Project, a Philadelphia-based jazz band, to be featured in its coverage of the Golf Association of Philadelphia’s 33rd Middle-Amateur Championship. The event, presented by Callaway Golf, will take place May 25-26 at Waynesborough Country Club.

“We’re looking to connect our organization’s history with the region’s rich musical scene. Highlighting local artists such as The Jost Project in our videos is a surefire way to do so,” said Tony Regina, GAP Assistant Communications Director. The two songs selected from the band’s CD, Can’t Find My Way Home (Dot Time Records) are “Sunshine Superman” (Track 2) and “Can’t Find My Way Home”. The CD is played regularly on the Real Jazz station of SiriusXM Radio.

The Jost Project is a band devoted to reaching new audiences for jazz with innovative arrangements of music by such artists as The Beatles, Simon & Garfunkel, Aerosmith, Led Zeppelin, Blind Faith and more. It is made up of internationally renowned vibraphonist Tony Miceli, vocalist/arranger/harmonicist Paul Jost and bassist Kevin MacConnell with various guest drummers. In addition to performing in New York, New Jersey and PA, The Jost Project has toured in South Korea and Ireland.

GAPTV's coverage of the Middle-Amateur Championship will be available on the Association's Web site and YouTube channel.

Golf Association of Philadelphia

Founded in 1897, the Golf Association of Philadelphia (GAP) is the oldest regional golf association in the United States and serves as the principal ruling body of amateur golf in its region. Its 153 Full Member Clubs and 57,000 individual members are spread across parts of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. As Philadelphia's Most Trusted Source of Golf Information, the Golf Association of Philadelphia's mission is to promote, preserve and protect the game of golf.
