Facing a move or need to downsize? Do you feel there is so much to do and so little help? This presentation will explain how you can downsize smoothly and efficiently by breaking the process into manageable pieces. The tips Jared will share are compiled from 18 years of helping seniors downsize and nearly 2000 moves. Have fun learning from Jared while playing a downsizing game. Take home valuable information that you can use now, save for a future move, or share with family and friends.

Jared Willmann is co-owner and Vice President of Byron Home, Inc., a family-owned and operated senior move management service serving southern and central New Jersey.

Jared literally grew up in the business. His mother and co-owner, Donna Willmann, founded Byron Home 19 years ago and became a founding member and board member of NASMM. Upon graduation from college, Jared worked in the inner city as a high school teacher, where he mastered the art of patience. He then moved into the family business and has worked full-time at Byron Home for 4 years, gaining experience in all aspects of the business, beginning as a moving assistant, then handling sales, marketing and operations.

One of the company's strengths is its experienced and dedicated workforce, with 5 employees celebrating 10 years or more with the company. Since its inception in 1998, Byron Home has helped seniors and their families with more than 2500 moves into over 75 different communities.
