Fall Theater Preview

By Anthony Stoeckert

Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, Pennsylvania, has traditionally presented a summer schedule with a holiday show, but it's gearing up for a busy fall with "Rock and Roll Man: The Alan Freed Story," featuring George Wendt of "Cheers, being staged Sept. 12-Oct. 1. Next up will be the annual production of "The Rocky Horror How," Oct. 13-29, followed by the world premiere of the musical, "The New World," about the Pilgrims arriving to America. It features song by Gary Adler and is directed by Stafford Arima, the team behind "Altar Boyz." For more information, go to www.bcptheater.org.
