Cherry Hill Students Sing Carols and Elvis for Senior Citizens

A group of high schoolers gave local seniors the gift of song for the holidays on Friday.

More than 40 students with the Cherry Hill High School West Choral Group stopped by the Spring Hills Cherry Hill Assisted Living Community Friday morning, December 22nd, to sing some holiday favorites.

The high school carolers say its their way of making the season jolly and putting big on smiles audience faces.

"My favorite part is seeing the reactions at the end of when we sing because it just brings them so much joy and makes them very happy," says Isabella, one of the singers. "And it's just heart warming. It just brings an extra sense of the meaning of Christmas and coming together and just all joy and happiness and love."
