

http://www.philly.com/philly/entertainment/20161216\_Trans-Siberian\_Orchestra\_Latkepalooza\_and\_15\_other\_ways\_to\_spend\_your\_weekend\_in\_Philly\_Dec\_16-18.html

philly.com Inquirer

Entertainment

Trans-Siberian Orchestra, Latkepalooza and 15 other ways to spend your weekend in Philly, Dec. 16-18

JOST PROJECT

Singer and harmonica player Paul Jost is following a fruitful path by breaking down and rebuilding classic-rock standards in intelligent, inventive jazz-combo configurations. He has done it with Bruce Springsteen - a Born to Run Reimagined album is in the works. But in this two-show Jost Project gig, the vocalist's quartet, featuring vibes player Tony Miceli, plus guest saxman Chris Farr, will pull from his two Dot Time Records releases, 2013's Can't Find My Way Home and the forthcoming Whatever Happened to Peace and Love. So expect to hear familiar songs by Donovan, Traffic, the Beatles, ZZ Top, and Simon & Garfunkel played in new ways. - Dan DeLuca

8 and 10 p.m. Friday, Chris' Jazz Cafe, 1421 Sansom St. $15, 215-568-3131, chrisjazzcafe.com.